People's decisions about what is important is affected by marijuana use. To a non-smoker, kissing everyone else in the room would be weird, but smokers share a wet joint gladly. Germs and wierdness are important to the non-smoker, but a smoker's priorities are rearranged.

I have a messy room. I don't really care though. My messy room was always someone elses fault. I blamed it on lack of places to put things away.

I am cool. Everyone I thought was cool had the characteristics i have right now. i am cool. in my own eyes. that's ok. that's really all that matters. that's all that matters anyway. wha wha wha wha it was like a time warp. it was like i awoke into another state i got back into the writing vibe. wirting, writing. this is time of creative flow. this is a free write, like they taught in high school. Maybe high school WASN'T as much bull shit as i thought. I have to appreciate it for what it was, and not see it as negative. mr. k, in a ed, was a cool guy. he was a hiker and listened to cool things like alices restaurant and yodeling music. he had a shirt with a little man on it, with a guitar in his hands, dreaming of an accordian. he hooked me up with credits, when i slept in his class all the time. i felt guilty about sleeping. Ha ha, sleeping in class. Put those folders up, make sure the teacher can't see. Why did we sleep at school? Duh! We were tired. We are tired of the administration. Alt ed kids were cool. they were nice kids, but misunderstood. I feel like everyone i meet is really cool. the alt ed kids smoked pot on the drive back to the high school building. they smoked it, and offered it to me, but I was still in my "just say no" stage. The reason I did that was because I wanted to just be on the outside, so I could watch. I was like, i won't smoke pot, i'll just see what everyone else does. They offered it to me, and I said no.

The girls look up to me. They see that I have no bad motives, and they appreciate that, and they love me for it. I am looking for the girl that all the guys look up to, with no bad motives. Just as Roger told me I could see him, and he could see that. Everyone is an individual. Everyone has a different idea of how the world should be. Nothing is right. Nothing is wrong. Everything just is. It doesn't really matter who is right, or if anyone is. All that matters is how we interact with each other while we are here. Since who's right, and who's wrong doesn't even really matter in the end, it doesn't really matter now. The war should not be going on. The terrorists?! Bull shit! Bull shit! Common sense! Common sense! Wake up everyone! We all have a brain! Use it! Duh! That's the meaning of life! Of course we all think different things, no one doubts that. But, we all have a brain, and do whatever is best for our own situation. We all have brains, let's use them.

We need to appreciate our gifts. We need to stop denying we have them. False modesty is not honesty.

i know you're out there. a few times, i thought i met you, but i was mistaken. we think. we realize we have a brain and all kinds of other wonderful gifts, and we think. everyone's mistakes can be justified in their own eyes, and that has to count for something. the value of a human being's life and ideas, and everything they THINK is important. people make mistakes. People have moods and tudes. No one is right, no one is wrong. Everything simply is. Both sides are wrong in EVERY argument, because everyone is right about EVERYTHING. Argumen comes from misunderstanding. people argue when they don't understand the importance of the issue at hand in the same terms as someone else. Absolute truth—absolutely everything is true—relative truth! BOTH sides of the argument are wrong, for arguing, since they're both the same, and IT DOESN'T REALLY MATTER ANYWAY! So many people would be wrong if any one worldview was correct. I BELIEVE THE HUMAN RACE IS SMARTER THAN THAT! we all do whatever is right for OUR SELVES in OUR OWN situations. We make mistakes. It's ok. It doesn't really matter in the end. Our bodies die, and that's all we know for sure.

I love people, and I will serve only a god that shares my love for people. The god created by Christianity, does not share this love for people. People can be understood. Everyone is justified in their own eyes, and everyone is right, everyone believes their own truth. misunderstanding causes arguments. instead of arguing, we need to try harder to understand where the other person is coming from. IT IS POSSIBLE TO BE A PEACEFUL CITIZEN OF EARTH! It's possible for an individual, so it's possible for a group of individuals, a world-wide group of individuals. We are out there: human beings with brains.

absolute: 8. Complete and unconditional; final.

Our religion is simply how we see everyone else. It's just a way of separating people. I see everyone as an individual with potential that can be realized.

with god all things are possible. all things are possible. every religion is made up to give a possible explanation for what's going on. the world is a confusing place for a human animal. So, to try and explain it, he made up religions, or possible explanations for the world around him. all things are possible. everything is possible. EVERYTHING IS POSSIBLE!

we did the best we could. we tried as hard as we could. we gave it our all. the "cliché" phrases have so much more meaning than they are given. they are cliché because they are used a lot—BECAUSE THEY'RE A GOOD IDEA! Duh! Duh! Understanding! Don't look down on ANYONE! Not people in the past, government figures, third world country people, celebrities. Be a peaceful citizen of earth. Understand people. This is IMPORTANT! Understand people. Duh. Understand that EVERYONE IS JUSTIFIED IN THEIR OWN MIND, and who's to say otherwise. Every single person has a mind, with unique creative dreams and expressions. EVERYONE HAS FEELINGS! EVERYONE! We need to love people, and work together to love other people. the government is numbing our society down so we don't care about the rest of the world. when we learn about the rest of the world we see other countries DOING JUST FINE! then we understand that it is our responsibility to be a peaceful citizen of earth. That is our only responsibility. We are creative, so we think about what we're going to do try to live peacefully, as "the good side" is always trying to do. We THINK the government is for peace, but they are so obviously not, I mean, THEY STARTED A WAR! The government is not a person, place, or thing: it's an idea. A thought. IT EXISTS ONLY IN OUR MIND!

We keep our own enemies alive. We only have enemies if we allow them to exist. IT IS POSSIBLE! It is possible to live without enemies.

Our enemies only exist in our mind. ALL of our enemies are imaginary. Terrorists are our enemy? I will never have an encounter with a terrorist. Terrorists are not my enemy. They have issues with someone, and I hope they get them sorted out, but they have no beef with me.

Observe, communicate, and live. Be a peaceful citizen of Earth. It's not that hard: it's the same thing EVERYONE has been trying to teach us, but we haven't been listening.

Corporations are killing us. We have created a monster. The monster is not human. The people who haven't been eaten by the monster are known as human beings. We can see the monster, and choose not to make it any worse than it already is.

We are the peaceful citizens of Earth, and we don't want to destroy the world. We understand that the revolution is already here. The revolution is now. Since it is an idea, a mindset, it can exist at any given moment. Since the idea IS out there, the revolution DOES exist! It exists! How exciting, we should live like it exists!

People are not the problem, misunderstanding is the problem. YOU'RE NOT THE ONLY ONE WHO THINKS! Please understand this: Don't "buy into" their little corporate game. It's not that hard to NOT GO TO WAL-MART! Alternatives exist, as they always have.

We are just pawns in the corporate chess game. They use us however we can be the most beneficial for them. They see us as a resource: a resource that gives them money. CORPORATIONS DON'T LOVE HUMAN BEINGS.

Wake up, underground culture! You're the human beings with a culture that exists beyond money. There are no corporations in the underground culture, only humans. We have to hide underground to escape the monster. The monster has created stereotypes to separate us, and forget we are all humans.

We claim to love everyone, and see everyone equally, but we so obviously don't. September 11 taught us a lot. We weren't really that sad when a bunch of people we didn't know, died. The media wanted us to think we were sad and grieving, but it was phoney. There are people dying all over the world, all the time, but since the media ignores them, we also ignore them. We have forgotten that we are human, that we ALL have thoughts and imaginations. The bums, jocks, preppies, astronauts, presidents, terrorists, evil dictators, hicks, fags, airline pilots, and drug addicts, are humans with feelings. It taught us to learn what we had forgotten: our only responsibility, to be a peaceful citizen of Earth.

Humans think, and think all the time. Thoughts come and go so quickly. We human beings, have the mindset of a peaceful citizen of Earth, and are waiting patiently for everyone else to figure it out.

Absolute truth: absolutely everything is true. A thought exists. An entity can exist through a group sharing a thought. Everything is a thought, or was at one time. Someone thinks it's true: it exists as a thought. It exists. It's true.

You are human. Realize this, and do the best you can.

Now... GO!

cheyne,

thank you so much for your gifts of music and words!!

sleep and be well!

yeeeeharr!!

judy

bye. :) :):)

you're welcome

Wake up from the American dream.

False modesty is dishonest. If you are proud of something, recognize it. Understand it is ok to recognize and appreciate.

Negativity is contagious. DON'T LET ANYONE ELSE'S PROBLEMS BECOME YOUR OWN!

I have nothing to be negative about. I understand what's going on.

I feel disappointed when my positive, good ideas, are attacked, struck down by negativity.

I hate this... that is so stupid... look how ugly...

Don't live in the past, but also don't dismiss it completely. The past is truth, it happened this cannot be denied.

Everything is a resource. Crack food? Someone still calls it food, so it has to be good for something. Understand why it's still called food, and who calls it that. Understand

In this world, the one thing that is universal for everyone, is that we don't have the answer, and no one knows for sure until they die. No one knows who's right, and it doesn't really matter, because WE WILL ALL FIND OUT EVENTUALLY! So, chill. You can die at any time. Be prepared to die. Live every moment doing whatever you're sure you want to do before you die. Why is life important? The importance of life is irrelevant, because importance is relative. We all think different things are important. Different things=relative. Universal truth=absolute truth. Absolute truth=absolutely everything is true.

We all believe different things. This cannot be denied. We all believe we are right, unless we believe otherwise. Since no one really knows until they die, and we don't know when we will die, we should live without regrets, and be prepared to die at any moment.

The monster is the worldview that lets it exist. No worldview is right, no worldview is wrong, since right and wrong are subjective words, and mean different things to different people at different times. I have accepted every worldview, not because any of them are right, but because none are wrong.

It's ok to not understand something. When the issue at hand really doesn't matter, it's ok if you don't understand. It is not necessary to understand every detail of every aspect of life.

The three "M"s: Marijuana, Maté, and mushrooms.

Microsoft made us believe that all computers die.

It's all about how you fit in with each other's worldview—what everyone else thinks about you. It doesn't really matter, so don't worry about it. You're a human being with a brain. You can figure it out.

And God said: Cheyne Omatic, I have presented you with a gift. You have a mind. You can figure it out. I have given you all your senses, like your fingers that can feel stuff, and your nose that can smell stuff, not to mention all the stuff you see and hear! I put you on the Earth. It's your playground. Go have recess and be good. I'll see you when

Instead of trying to find meanings in backwards songs, we should try to figure out the meanings of songs forward. Understand what everyone is trying to say.

Cheyne, your computer is the best one I've ever seen, it's gotta be worth at least six-hundred bucks.

There's more software for the Windows platform.

So what?

We are playing everyone else's games. We're finding out who's playing what, and don't like to play with those who don't play nice. We are playing the corporate game. It's a game. Monopoly taught us how to think like a corporation. No one is happy after Monopoly. Let's play a different game.

Amen. You're speaking truth. I agree with you.

Amen is just another way to say totally.

The angry machine didn't want to cooperate, so I angrily fumbled with it. Cooperate! Damn it!
